

What is MultiDimensional Lovemaking?

"Love Love Love. All you need is love...!"
- The Beatles

The word "love" has so many meanings, from the spiritual and divine to the sexual and erotic, from the love of family to the enjoyment of a meal or other experience. Just about everyone wants to have better sex, but Multidimensional Lovemaking is an entirely different story. To experience MultiDimensional Lovemaking, you must be a multidimensional being. To be intimate with another, you must be intimate with yourself.

It doesn't matter how many advanced sexual practices you know. If you are not aware of your multidimensional nature, you won't be able to experience their potential. If you are not comfortable with all aspects of your self, you will not be able to share or experience lovemaking fully. Multidimensional Lovemaking starts with making yourself a better person; deeper, more expanded, more complete, more whole. It means healing your wounds and shining Light in the shadows.

At the Spiritual Science Society, we focus on development of the individual, creating greater physical well-being, emotional clarity, mental focus and spiritual awareness. Then, when you come together with your beloved, you will experience blissful levels of yourself and each other beyond what you could have imagined!

The Cobra Breath (Tantric Kriya Kundalini Pranayama), the foundational practice of the Spiritual Science Society, is a powerful technique for developing multidimensional individuals and empowering MultiDimensional Lovemaking.

-Hari Om Tat Sat
© Jeffrey Boehme
2017